פרק 1

Intro

This sample is for experiments. It's not a real document.

Babel attempts to cover 4 engines (traditional $\text{T}_{\text{E}}\text{X}$, pdf $\text{t}_{\text{E}}\text{x}$, xet $\text{E}}\text{x}$ and lua $\text{t}_{\text{E}}\text{x}$), and 3 formats (Plain, $\text{\LaTeX}2_{\text{e}}$ and $\text{\LaTeX}2.09$). Furthermore, there are L documents with R text, R documents with L text, and so on.

This document can be typeset with pdf $\text{t}_{\text{E}}\text{x}$, xet $\text{E}}\text{x}$ and lua $\text{t}_{\text{E}}\text{x}$ without changes. The results will be different, and at some points even wrong. I hope a more or less complete basic bidi support for lua $\text{t}_{\text{E}}\text{x}$ (including footnotes, tables, etc.) will be finished before Summer 2018. Other engines must wait very likely until Winter.

Note in particular the differences in Latin text in R contexts. Lua $\text{t}_{\text{E}}\text{x}$ sets Latin text in L mode, even if the current language and its pardir is R, so that the first word is at the left, not at the right after the indent (this is the expected behaviour). pdf $\text{t}_{\text{E}}\text{x}$, on the other hand, sets the text in R mode. With xet $\text{E}}\text{x}$ there is an odd mixture of modes — words in L mode are set in turn in R mode.

In pdf $\text{t}_{\text{E}}\text{x}$, the Hebrew captions are replaced by Danish ones. Change it if you have installed some 8-bit Hebrew font.

The sample PDFs in GitHub has been typeset with version 3.16.1150 (available here).
